Who uses Libraries Australia at UWA?

- Students doing Postgraduate degrees by research to ensure their work is original. Libraries Australia is the only comprehensive source for Australian theses.

- All UWA staff and students seeking materials on Australian topics – particularly staff, postgraduates and honours students who all have access to document delivery.

- Document delivery staff: replaces SIAL
How much is it used at UWA?

- During July-September 2005, out of a total of 2400 resources that the Library keeps PURL statistics for, Libraries Australia was ranked no. 73 with a count of 5406.

- This compares well with the long established WorldCat catalogue ranked at no. 66 with a count of 6453.
User feedback

From Law Honours Students:

“I've used it quite a lot..... I found it really useful because [it’s] searching all of Australia rather than just UWA..... confirmed that there weren't a whole stack of relevant resources that I'd missed.”
"I have used Libraries Australia quite a lot - mostly in respect to journals. If I want to find an article that is not at UWA, I check whether it is at one of the other WA libraries where I can go get it myself. If not, I see if it is at least in Australia making it worth ordering."
“ I used Libraries Australia and found it to be an invaluable resource. .......
It's easy to use and the best aspect about it is the access it offers to recently published texts from Australia and overseas. I found it enabled my research to keep abreast of the latest developments in the area of law I am looking at, an edge I otherwise would not have had, had I been limited to searching the local university catalogues.”
Library staff training: Selling the sizzle

- In June I conducted two informal training sessions for UWA library staff

- The challenge: “You’ve seen one web based catalogue, you’ve seen them all!”

- The solution: “Sell the sizzle not the steak”.

- Libraries Australia: outstanding linkage to the NLA’s digital collections.
